We had a great time speaking to freelance photographer Deborah Sandidge for the latest episode of The Image Doctors. Not only has Deborah written a comprehensive, modern guide to digital infrared photography, but she told us about her experiences leading a photo workshop to Cuba.

If you're interested in Infrared photography, check out Deborah's book, Digital Infrared Photography (Photo Workshop). It's chock-full of useful tips and tricks as well as some great ideas for non-traditional IR shots. If you choose to send your camera to LifePixel for IR conversion, be sure to check out the discount coupon on Deborah's website.

Deborah also leads workshops to exciting locations worldwide. Her 2012 trip to Cuba is already full, but there are still some slots open for 2013. Learn more about photo workshops with Deborah Sandidge here.

ABOUT THE IMAGE DOCTORS

The Image Doctors podcast was founded in 2005 by Jason Odell and Rick Walker and is available every two weeks on Thursdays. We are dedicated to sharing our photographic experiences with our listeners and bring them photography tips and interviews with photographers worldwide.
